SPINOZA CAPITAL

Investment strategy

The Fund pursues capital appreciation and achieving attractive risk-adjusted returns through a quantitative and qualitative investment selection process based on the principles of value investing.

The Fund has a special focus on investing in companies with an entrepreneurial backing or with a strong alignment of incentives between public shareholders and insiders like (i) a long-term oriented anchor shareholder like a founder or an entrepreneurial family, (ii) a significant shareholding by the management team and/or sizeable share purchases by the management team, and/or (iii) significant share buybacks.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed on a fully discretionary basis. Investments are selected based on the principles of value investing employing the Investment Manager's proprietary, rules based quantitative and qualitative investment selection process, incorporating combinations of different value, management quality and/or ownership structure parameters or criteria, that seeks to take advantage of discrepancies between the estimated fundamental value of a transferable security and its market price.

Fund manager's comment: October 2025

In October 2025, equity markets continued their strong performance. The Stoxx Europe 600 increased by +2.4%, while the S&P 500 and Nasdaq rose by +2.2% and +4.7%, respectively. Mid-cap stocks lagged their large-cap peers, with the MDAX decreasing -1.7% and US mid-cap stocks lagging their large-cap peers, with the Russell 2000 gaining +1.7%.

The US performance in October was particularly noteworthy. The entire increase in the S&P 500 was driven by Nasdaq stocks, which benefited from a flurry of announced AI deals and partnerships, while most stocks outside the AI universe traded sideways. Interestingly, the US factor index "Bloomberg Shareholder Yield Index" – which comprises companies paying high dividends, conducting buybacks, and reducing debt – dropped -3.0% in October as AI bellwethers soaked up the market liquidity. The valuations in the AI space are mostly high like e.g., NVIDIA at 35x and Microsoft at 32x P/E or outright outrageous like Palantir at a staggering 222x P/E.

The Entrepreneur Fund returned -0.1% in October. The companies held by the Fund generally reported solid or strong Q3 results, but share prices did not always follow the positive news e.g. Universal Music Group and Deutsche Telekom reported results above broker expectations but still showed a share price declines over the course of October of -5% and -7% respectively as companies with strong shareholder returns are currently unloved by the market. The only disappointing earnings reports came from Treasury Wine Estates (-15%) while BNP (-13%) was negatively affected by a court ruling which will likely be successfully appealed by BNP. Positive contributors in October included Tonies (+15%, new product launch), St. Joe (+14%, excellent Q3 results), British Land (+9%, strong trading update), and both Engie and RWE (+11% and +13% respectively, growing energy demand).

The Fund decreased its equity exposure to 92% of net asset value (NAV). At the end of October 2025, 7% of NAV was allocated to cash and approximately 1% to bonds and portfolio hedges. The Fund's assets were distributed as follows: approximately 69% in EUR-denominated instruments, 13% in USD, 12% in GBP, and 6% in a mix of CHF, NOK, SEK, AUD, and PLN.

Investor Profile

The Fund is suitable for investors seeking long-term capital growth and may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5 years.

Risks

Market risk: Market fluctuations and general market or systematic risk is inherent to an entire investment market and as such, to a varying degree, in all of the Fund's investments. Price movements in an investment market can be volatile and are influenced, among other things, by changing market supply and demand, national and international political and economic events.

Concentration risk: To the extent that the Fund's investments are concentrated in a particular country, market, industry or asset class, the Fund may be susceptible to loss due to adverse occurrences affecting that country, market, industry or asset class.

Currency risk: The Fund's reference currency is EUR, whereas the underlying investments of the Fund are denominated in a variety of currencies. Consequently, the performance of the Fund may be influenced by movements in foreign exchange rates between EUR and the currencies in which the underlying investments are denominated.

Counterparty risk: There is a risk that a counterparty will not fulfil its payment obligation for a trade, contract or other transaction, on the due date. This may result in losses.

Liquidity risk: The Fund may be exposed to liquidity risk where, due to a lack of marketability, the Fund's investments cannot be bought or sold quickly enough to prevent or minimize a loss.

Derivatives risk: The Fund may use derivatives in an attempt to reduce risk (hedging) or for investment and portfolio management purposes. It may be that the use of derivatives may not always be successful and cause unit prices to fluctuate which may in turn result in loss to the Fund.

Credit risk: The risk of default that may arise if an issuer fails to make payments when due.

Operational risk: The risk of losses caused by employees, delegates, service providers and other third parties through insolvency, errors, fraud or criminal actions.
